Artworks never exist in time, they have “entry points”. – Redza Piyadasa

Putting together an art exhibition is a critical thinking process, where one has to look at how art can be effectively be presented to the audience. Likewise, this process also applies to the artist. Under the current circumstances, Galeri Prima - an art gallery that actively promotes and provides a platform for young and budding artists to showcase their talents - believes an online exhibition serves as the stage for these emerging artists to showcase their works.

These original works document the diversity of each artists where their inspirations are drawn from the influences and experiences from within and around them. Their ideas come from addressing a need as per the nation when finding solutions deal with problems.

We too adapt to new norms of doing things as we bring to you our first ever online art exhibition, Omnificence, from June 9 to June 26, 2020.

The artists participating in this exhibition show how art has become an important aspect of our lives, to inspire and remind us that we are still capable of being creative under any circumstance. As the world is constantly evolving, there is always something that can be improved.

Twenty-four young, emerging and senior artists are displaying various works with different art styles and perspectives. They are Abdullah Jones, Amir Sulli, Amirul Md Noor, Annisa Tajul Urus, Arif Hassan, Awang Jack, Effi Syafiq, Ehlid Luli, Fadhli Ariffin, Faizal Suhif, Fauzin Mustafa, Firdaus Yusof, Fuji Anggara, Husin Othman, Izwa Ahmad, Jamil Zakaria, Johan Marjonid, Khairulsani Ismail, Raden Hisbullah, Rosli Zakaria, Ruzamira Razak, Sharlene Lopang, Zaharin Mohammad and Zaim Durulaman.

Omnificence literally means state of mind in creating all things; having unlimited powers of creation, especially as revealed in works of art. All the artworks in Omnificence show the beauty of creativity and the evolution of ideas and a reflection of their thoughts. The artists involved in Omnificence used both conventional and the unconventional medias, while keeping to the originality.

In the words of Pablo Picasso - Painting is just another way of keeping a diary.
